Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on April 12, 2004 has been entered.

Priority

2. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d). The certified copy has been received.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 13 is objected to because of the following informalities: claim 13 should be dependant on claim 19 instead of claim 12, since the limitation of an angle β is described on claim 19. Appropriate correction is required.

4. Claim 20 is objected to because of the following orthographical error: in line 4 the word "having" must be deleted. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 11-13, 15-16, and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claims 18 and 20, it is not clear if the “predetermined radius “R” is a constant radius?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 11-13, 15-16, and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rudolf (US 5,058,909). Rudolf 909 discloses the invention as claimed including a working tool “18”, a hollow spindle “20”, a housing “12”, a locking spindle “26”, a resilient member “30”, a pivot axis “28”, a locking flange “58”, a locking lever “32”, a slider via a camming surface of the lever with a predetermined radius “R” (see Fig. 2), a contact surface via the annular extent “34” with a length corresponding to at least a radial distance “a”.

Art Unit: 3721

Even when Rudolf's slider has not a constant radius "R", it is deemed that the camming surface, i.e. the slider, is an annular support member, since it is shaped like a ring portion having a predetermined radius along the ring portion contacting the contact surface "34", wherein the camming surface pivots on the same axis of the lever "32". Therefore, it has an axis that is parallel to the lever "32" pivot axis. It should also be noticed that since the camming surface has an increasing radius, limitations of claims 15-16 are considered to be met by the reference.

With regards to claims 11 and 12, insofar as the claims are understood, the camming surface, i.e., the slider, of the lever "32" is in contact with the extent, when pivoted between 30° to 120°, especially at 80° and therefore, forms the angle (α).

Regarding claim 13, insofar as the claim is understood, the lever "32" travels at least approximately 5° to 30°, in particular 10°, to arrive the exchange position.

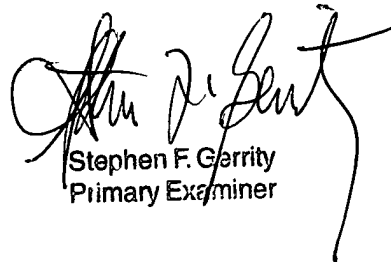

Insofar, as claims 15-16 are understood, it is believed that the annular member "34" includes an axis (any axis) that is parallel to the pivot axis of lever "32" and of the claimed distance set forth.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gentischer'227, Rudolf'382, Rudolf'374, and Rudolf'873 are cited to show related inventions.

Art Unit: 3721
